

Cavemen Must Be Stupid

Copyright © 2017 John Bickart, Inc.

Cavemen must be barbaric and stupid;
not like you and me.
Why else would they walk hunched over,
ungroomed and all beastly.

I can't stand them, I mean just look at them,
grunting and making a fuss.
They're really just like babies,
not fully human like us.

I could never be a caveman.
I'm smart and have manners, you see.
I use my words to communicate,
with a firm vocabulary.

And think of the things they didn't have,
like paintball, tv, and banks.
Were they really too obtuse
to invent ballparks and franks?

We need to distance ourselves from them.
I for one am done with clubs.
And onesies just look childish
at work or the gym or pubs.

But I honor that awkward phase we went through,
as a model of what not to be.
Because, clearly, we have arrived at full maturity.